

CHARITY IN ISLAM

Charity (Sadaqah and Zakat) is a cornerstone of Islamic ethics. Muslims are encouraged to help those in need, alleviate poverty, and promote social justice.

Zakat is a mandatory form of charity aimed at wealth redistribution, while Sadaqah encompasses voluntary acts of giving that reflect compassion and generosity.

DID YOU KNOW?

Estimates are Muslims donate over £130-£150
million pounds
in Ramadan in this country each year

In Islam any good word or deed is regarded as an act of charity. Charity can also be performed in other forms which are non-monetary such as voluntary work, helping others and even smiling

The concept of paying child benefit
and pension started
over 1400 years ago
in the early period
of Islam